Summary

Another crossover and a very odd drabble where the Canon is thrown out the window! Alice, Princess Elodie's maid, organizes a picnic for her two friends Alice. Other guests, couples, join them.

- A translation of Autres invités by MiaQc

I am Alice, Princess Elodie's maid. I'm planning a picnic today for my two friends Alice. The princess agreed, although she would have liked to come.

I arrive at the agreed upon place, lay out the large tablecloth on the floor, place the cutlery and food. Alice Elliot, with her silver hair, is the first to arrive. She is a priestess' daughter.

"Hello, Alice! How happy I am to see you!"

"So am I." I said.

"Little Alice should be here any minute."

Indeed, the little girl arrives a minute later. Full name Alice Williams, she is a merchant's daughter.

"Hi, Alice!" Said the child.

"Which one?" Asks Alice Elliot.

"Both!" Said the little girl with a laugh.

Now that we are all here, we start to eat. We are having a great time. Little Alice is talking about all sorts of things.

Suddenly, we have unexpected visitors. Three couples. The first is Salia and her lover, Liuka. Salia is a powerful warrior and Liuka is a seer. The second is Merida and Nephrite. Merida is an archer who isn't afraid of anything. Nephrite is a very mysterious man. I know nothing about him. The third is Elisa and Elian. I know that Elisa loves to feed the wild swans. As for Elian, no mystery escapes him.

Not wanting to be rude, we invite them to join us, but there isn't enough food for everyone. The three couples don't seem to mind. After all, talking is always a nice thing to do. The two Alice, the lovers, and I have a nice afternoon.

Author's note: If you're wondering where I got this crazy idea, well, it's quite simple.

Before, being too influenced by comments on Facebook saying that Original Works had no place on AO3, I had the genius idea to "convert" them into fanfiction with the least amount of effort! I mean, taking a character from a Fandom with the same first name as my original character and there you go! Otherwise changing an original character's first name for a similar first name worn by a Fandom character.

This has resulted in some very strange tags. Several of them have been canonized on Archive of Our Own.

Afterwards, having realized that my genius idea was rotten, the "fake fanfics" were even less read than the original stories, and Original Works have their place on AO3, I deleted the "fake fanfics" to put the original stories back online.

But the canonized tags are still there. So I thought, "Make a list and try to use them in a crossover or two with a very basic plot. That way, they'll serve a purpose!" That's how this crossover came about ^^
